School board asks redistricting opinion

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Hancock County School Board Saturday voted to seek a state attorney general's opinion on whether redistricting would result in board members being elected by their beat constituents only.

Board members, although they represent individual beats, are currently elected by the voters from throughout the school district. Board President Woodrow Ladner said he feels citizens of Hancock County are equally represented under the present districting system but, "would go along with a redistricting plan in a minute if the people would want it."

Approximately 25 people attended the board's recess meeting 9 a.m. Saturday, filling the meeting room in the Youth Court building on Court Street in Bay St. Louis.

State Rep. J.P. Compretta of Hancock County said, "There is probably some unequal population in the districts but changing these districts will have to be done through the legislature."

Compretta recommended a planning agency formulate a redistricting plan for the county but added a resolution was needed from the school board authorizing him to introduce legislation.

"If the school board gives me a resolution to introduce a bill for redistricting Hancock County school districts, I'll introduce it," Compretta stated.

Woodrow Ladner said, "We should have a full board seated before we pass a resolution."

Louie Ladner added, "We should have it researched before we make a resolution."

"I need a resolution early enough so the bill doesn't get bogged down in the legislature... the earlier it gets introduced the earlier the legislation will be approved," Compretta stated.

Clarence Garcia said, "It's just about impossible to get all board members at one meeting... if the new district lines are not drawn east-west, redistricting is not going to help us."

"I feel if we have two board members from the south end of the county

Port asks deadline extension

By RICH ADAMS
The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission said Thursday it will meet with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to discuss the possible extension of a Dec. 29 deadline to begin restoration of wetlands at Port Bienville Industrial Park.

The board recessed after discussing the matter for some 35 minutes Thursday with no definite time or date for the next meeting, which will probably be with the Corps of Engineers.

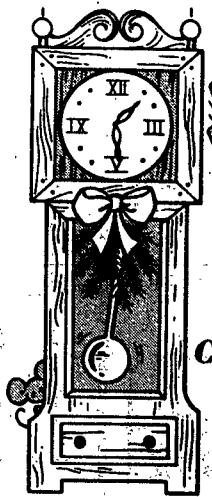

The issue stems from an order by regulatory commissions which requires the port commission to restore six acres of soil deposit land to wetlands before the corps would grant a permit to Steve Knight for construction at the Hancock County industrial park.

Port Commission Executive Director Wilson Webb said Thursday the issue

Ms. Dillard to manage I-10 center

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Lillian Dillard, Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce executive secretary for the past six years, has been named manager of the Hancock County Welcome Center corner of I-10 and Hwy. 607.

The new Mississippi facility will be the largest welcome center in the state housing three parlors, a fireplace, spiral staircase and $30,000 worth of antiques all dated prior to 1900, according to Dillard.

The announcement of Dillard's new position came during a banquet honoring the installation of 1980 officers into the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce Thursday night at the yacht club.

Dillard says no definite date has been set for opening the facility but in early January she will help decorators place furnishings in the new facility.

The center will be staffed by a manager, an assistant manager and three receptionists of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board.

The welcome center will be open year-round except for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's day with winter hours 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. and summer hours 8 a.m.-8 p.m.

"Free coffee and soft drinks will be served to visitors," Dillard said.

Also during the banquet Dillard was cited in a resolution by the chamber offering "best wishes and success to her in her new endeavor."

Incoming Vice President Larry Kniffin presented her a gift from the organization.

New officers installed were LeRoy Lizana, president; Kniffin; and Dillard, secretary-treasurer.

County Agent's Notes

MATCH CROP TO LAND

After harvest is a good time to evaluate fields to determine if they are being planted to crops best suited for them. Soybeans, for example, should be planted only on soils that will produce consistently high yields.

With today's high production costs, the soybean producer cannot afford even one low yielding year. A total failure can put a grower out of business.

Select only productive soils, and properly plan and assemble your production program.

BALANCE CATTLE'S DIETS

While hay is a must for cattle without access to winter grazing or silage, it's also a good practice to provide some hay to animals on succulent winter grazing. This will give a better balance of fiber and nutrients.

Hay from large rolled bales that went to advanced maturity because of wet weather this summer. However, cattle on hay only may need additional protein.

STOP PIG LOSSES

Baby pig mortality is one of swine producers' biggest problems. An average of two pigs per litter die before weaning.

Cold, damp conditions and disease are often the causes. To reduce the chances of pig losses, clean pens before the sow enters the farrowing house. Keep the pens clean and dry, and put down shavings for bedding.

A new born pig needs a temperature of 90 degrees F for the first 24 to 36 hours. Pigs that are chilled will curl up, appear tense, or huddle in a pile.

MOISTURE HURTS BEANS

If you are storing soybeans in metal bins this year, be sure to check them periodically for high moisture areas. High moisture will damage stored seed beans and reduce germination. The problem is big changes in temperature which cause air movement in bins and result in moisture migrations. These produce high moisture areas. This problem can be prevented by aerating the beans during periods of large temperature changes.

CATTLE CARE

Cattlemen should use poor quality hay first and save higher quality hay for January and February. Cattle will need additional protein this winter if good quality winter grazing is not available. They will also need plenty of water. Cattle don't drink as much in winter as they do in summer, but they will still need fresh water, especially if they have access to salt.

FALL PLOWING

Plowing fields after harvest will reduce weed problems, conserve moisture and provide a cleaner field next spring. Fall plowing buries stalks and other debris so they can decompose during the winter. It also allows the soil to mellow from freezing and thawing, and exposes the roots of perennial weeds to freezing weather. Fall plowing permits shallow preplant cultivation in the spring. This helps to control weeds and conserve moisture. On fields subject to severe erosion, be sure to leave some residue on the top.

SELECTIVE LAW ANNULLMENT

Just as a butcher may be accused of weighing his thumb time and again to tilt his scales in his favor, so can responsible elements of American government tip the scales of justice by selecting which laws will be enforced and to what degree. And later, the latitude of sentences meted out by the judicial folks too can thwart the intent of law and annul serious legal restraints provided by law.

The American system of checks and balances between the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of government are basic to our way of life in the United States. We, the American people, believe it to be the best, safest and fairest form of self-government. Yet, unless we as citizens remain alert to what it is all about and make a contribution to see that it works, its flaws can get out of hand.

The legislative branch makes the laws - both in national Congress and in state legislatures. Legislators are elected representatives of the people and promise generally to make laws that reflect the wishes of the people they represent, yet affected to a degree by their statesmanship as reflected in honest concern for the public interest. That's a lawmaker, a legislator, inside his bubble of idealism.

The executive branch consists of the President and his cabinet and aides or the governor and his aides who are charged with seeing that the laws of the land are competently and fairly administered for the general well being of the population. They give state of the state or union addresses to the state legislatures and the national Congress at their respective levels and usually head up a party platform representing their campaign promises which always go beyond their responsibility for administering laws already passed. We as a state or nation usually indulge these administrators and permit them to use their powers of office to invade the legislative branch which constitutionally is off limits but popularly accepted. The President also has authority to issue certain executive orders in mostly emergency situations as head of state or head of the armed forces.

The judicial branch has to do with enforcing of the land which, loosely interpreted, includes law enforcement and sentencing by the courts as the last word in criminal prosecution.

Again, hoorah for the system! It works better than any other system, or so we, as Americans, believe.

But again, the system itself works out either in town or on the back forty no better than the people who bring it there.

As an example, a local sheriff, a highway patrolman, a police officer, a justice court judge, a member of the United States Supreme Court, each may and often do annul the laws legislators make and governors and Presidents administer by the many variables at their level of responsibility.

The rise in crime in the United States, as an example, over-extends these local officials. According to FBI data recently for the nation as a whole, one murder happens every 45 minutes. One rape case every 19 minutes. One aggravated assault every two minutes. One car snatched every 48 seconds. One larceny, stealing $50 or more, every 30 seconds. One burglary every 20 seconds. Criminal law enforcement is in competition with civil enforcement.

For instance, does a lawman try to check an active felony crime, or chase down the guy who tossed a beer can on the roadside where it is unlawful to litter? So, we have selective law enforcement - and selective law annulment.

Minimum sentences for criminal acts too tend to annul the laws of the land.

Regardless of the reason, many Americans, especially in the agricultural areas, live virtually beyond the practical application of law enforcement. Others, in town, find they are victims of local agencies' own selective law enforcement.

In this way, America's bubble of self-government leaks pretty badly in many places and times. This is a point to ponder the next time you head for the polls.

LIVESTOCK SLAUGHTER, OCTOBER, 1979

Livestock slaughter during October totaled 212,700 head weighing 62,659,000 pounds liveweight, the Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service announced today.

This is 44,600 head and 3,840,000 pounds more than the same month last year. The October slaughter consisted of 17,400 cattle weighing 15,846,000 pounds liveweight; 2,200 calves weighing 1,215,000 pounds liveweight; 193,100 hogs weighing 45,588,000 pounds liveweight. The average liveweight per head of animals slaughtered was: Cattle 888, calves 557 and hogs 236 pounds.

Commercial production of red meat totaled 40,431,000 pounds during October, 30 percent above September and 14 percent above October 1978, according to the Crop Reporting Board. January-October red meat production totaled 321,960,000, 12 percent above a year earlier.

UNITED STATES

Commercial red meat production for the United States during October 1979 totaled 3.56 billion pounds, 6 percent greater than October 1978, according to the Crop Reporting Board. January-October red meat production at 30.9 billion pounds was 3 percent less than last year.

Changes by individual components are: Beef, down 11 percent; veal, down 32 percent; pork, up 15 percent; lamb and mutton, down 6 percent. Commercial red meat production includes slaughter in federally inspected and other plants, but excludes animals slaughtered on farms.

Kill days for October included 23 weekdays (one-a holiday) and 4 Saturdays, compared with 22 weekdays

(one a holiday) and 4 Saturdays for October 1978.

COMPARING OCTOBER 1979 WITH OCTOBER 1978

BEEF PRODUCTION at 1.94 billion pounds was down 8 percent. Head kill at 3.03 million was down 11 percent, while average liveweight increased 22 pounds to 1,067.

VEAL PRODUCTION at 37 million pounds was down 23 percent. Calf slaughter at 254 thousand head was down 23 percent, and the average liveweight of 242 pounds was down 1 pound.

PORK PRODUCTION totaled 1.55 billion pounds, up 32 percent. The 9.10 million head killed was up 33 percent. This was a record high number for a one month period exceeding the 8.99 million hogs killed in March 1971. The average liveweight of hogs was 242 pounds, down 1 pound. Preliminary lard production was 117 million pounds, up 33 percent.

SUMMARY

SOYBEAN: Based on conditions as of November 1, soybean production is forecast at 107,250,000 bushels, 8 percent above the last month's forecast, and 31 percent above 1978. Yield per acre is forecast at 26.0 bushels, highest yield of record. Previously record yield was 25.0 bushels in 1968 and 1969. The U.S. production is forecast at 139,554,000 cwt., 4 percent above last year's forecast, and 20 percent above the revised 1978 production of 1,870 million.

RICE: Production of rice is forecast at 8,610,000 cwt. This is unchanged from last month's forecast, but 6 percent below 1978. The U.S. production is forecast at 139,554,000 cwt., 4 percent above last year's forecast, and 20 percent above the revised 1978 production of 1,870 million.

Water is wasting!

We have been very fortunate on the Mississippi Gulf Coast to have an abundant supply of artesian water.

Experts tell us, though, that the water table is receding every year and wells have to go further and further down.

Indications are that there is a limited supply of the precious commodity of water even in Hancock County.

The things that gripes us is the fact water is wasted every hour of the day throughout Hancock County.

Free flowing wells continuously waste water. In case you want some examples, take a ride down North Beach in Bay St. Louis and you will see two wells flowing in the Bay. Drive out US-90 West and you will see a large well wasting away.

There are water wells flowing all over Hancock County, wasting away because they are not being used at all.

You hear environmental groups griping about contamination of the water and air, yet you hear nothing of wasting water.

Now the water which is being wasted in most cases we assume is pure, or a lot of folks would be dead because we have seen folks gathering the water in jugs at the three locations we mentioned on several occasions.

It would be a lot easier in later years to harvest clean water out of the ground instead of having to take water from lakes and rivers and then process it for human consumption.

We just wonder how many gallons of water are wasted in Hancock County in a 24-hour period and we also wonder why someone isn't trying to have all the unnecessary artesian wells capped.

A gallon of water saved today will go a long way in years to come.

We hope someone is listening!

STATE DEPARTMENT: IS IT ON OUR SIDE?
By CONGRESSMAN
TRENT LOTT

5th District, Mississippi
Since the U.S. Department of State adopted its deliberate, low-key approach to dealing with foreign affairs, our country has been portrayed as weak and ineffective.

While those who wear the traditional diplomatic pin stripe suits in the State Department may be intent, they certainly don't show it.

My personal observations of Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and others have convinced me that the State Department has more than an image problem.

There are number of examples:

- The State Department led the fight for Senate ratification of the treaties which gave away the Panama Canal, insisting all the while that the giveaway would not harm American interests;

- The State Department has yet to adequately explain the presence of a Soviet combat brigade in Cuba. It said the role of the troops there had changed since the Cuban missile crisis of 1962, but it never said what the role has changed to;

- Taiwan, formerly one of America's strongest allies, is being completely abandoned by State Department policies; and,

- The State Department spends millions of dollars in foreign aid on countries which don't give a hoot about the United States or its interests.

Any discussion of the State Department must include mention of the Iranian situation.

There is clear evidence now that the U.S. State Department knew, in advance, that if the Shah were admitted into this country, our embassy in Tehran could be seized and Americans taken hostage.

But the State Department failed to act to either shore up our embassy defenses or evacuate Americans there, and that failure became a horror story for the American citizens being held in Iran as well as for the American people as a whole.

Frankly, I have been impressed by recent briefings conducted by President Carter on foreign affairs. He at least projects the image of wanting to protect American interests abroad.

But when his words filter down to the State Department, they are lost in the shuffle.

At a recent briefing by Secretary Vance, I was surprised at his ability to give non-answers to very specific questions from Members of Congress and because he seemed personally offended by tough questions.

By the same token, other department personnel, especially one who is not a career diplomat, answered the blunt questions directly.

The United States is not a weak country and it is unfortunate that it's chief representative to the world, The State Department, portrays it as such. I think it's time the State Department got on our side and started acting like it functions for the great nation it does.

CHRISTMAS

As long as there are pine trees growing on a hill,
As long as there are firesides with candle on a sill,
As long as there are reindeer, snowflakes glistening white,
As long as there is a Santa Claus, there will be a Christmas night.
As long as happy children sing with pure delight the old song of goodwill to men, there will be a Christmas night.
As long as there are wise men who choose to be star-led,
and loving hearts made ready to crown the Christmas head,
As long as there is tinsel and wrappings gay and bright, and church bells chime throughout the land,
there will be a Christmas night.

We hope many of you will take the opportunity to attend the official opening of the Wave Pool at Buccaneer State Park Tuesday.

The event is scheduled for 2 p.m. and is the first such pool in the State of Mississippi.

We should be proud to have the facility here in Waveland.

A lot of folks need to receive credit for the State Park locating in Hancock County and all should be commended.

We will mention one name because his role was very important and of course that is Perry Gibson, Waveland resident, a former chairman of the Park Commission and very instrumental in the locating in our area.

The Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139, Bay St. Louis needs special recognition for their contribution to the bands of Hancock County Friday night.

We know the boosters of the four groups really appreciate the cash donation and will put the money to good use.

It seems that as of Friday that the signal light at Beach Boulevard and Main Street in Bay St. Louis has not received proper attention as yet.

It is still blinking in the afternoons when it should be late at night, we hope someone gets the message.

We would at this time like to thank each and everyone of you for your help with the United Way.

Through the efforts of so many the 1979 campaign has reached it's goal. We commend Mike Benvenuti for his superb job as campaign chairman.

All of the merchants and individuals who have decorated for the Christmas season should be thanked.

We have a tendency at times to forget things of importance, and we feel that everyone should try and decorate for the Holidays.

We are glad to see the Mississippi Gulf Coast Holiday Classic sponsored by the Jaycees going on again this year.

We hope as many of as possible will attend the games. There will be some top flight boy- and girl-high school basketball teams on the card again this year.

Resident protests Long Beach
ad valorem hikes

EDITOR:

Last week we received the 1979 tax statement on our home which is located on East Third Street Long Beach.

To say that we are shocked would be putting it mildly, we were robbed! The Board of Aldermen has increased the total valuation of our home 29.5 percent over last year (1978)!

And our total taxes have been increased 87 percent over last year!

A tax raise of this magnitude is grossly unfair and strikes a blow at those who are least able to pay-the senior citizen, and the disabled veteran!

The recently announced building program of the present Board of Aldermen at a time when the highest labour, material and interest costs are prevalent, reeks with their lack of fiscal responsibility!

And no doubt is the primary reason for the present tax rip-off!

During periods of inflation all tax collecting agencies receive more tax revenue, which is directly related to the percentage of inflationary increase.

Example: The Harrison County Coliseum is now receiving more than $200,000 per month from the .02 cents additional sales tax.

This is a 100 percent increase since the tax was initiated, not because taxpayers are purchasing more, but because they are paying twice as much for items purchased now.

It is obvious that the present increase in total valuation will also increase the debt limit in Long Beach, so the already overburdened taxpayers can look forward to more bond issues in 1980!

"Tax and Tax, Spend and Spend, the people are too dumb to understand."

Appeal issued for Whitfield patient gifts

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

As the Christmas season draws near, miraculously there seems to come a change in men's hearts.

A spirit of warmth, love, and good will toward fellow men prevails, and people react in a way that is not evident at any other time of the year.

At the Mississippi State Hospital, volunteers and staff members work together to make this season happy and joyous for the patients.

Through the Volunteer Services Department, citizens are given the opportunity to remember and share with friends through the "Every patient a gift project."

On Christmas morning every patient receives a beautifully wrapped package, made possible through the kindness of people throughout the State.

Almost any gift, especially those in plastic containers, is acceptable. Some suggestions are as follows: cigarettes, candy, cookies, hairbrushes, cosmetics (all kinds for both men and women), scarves, lingerie, house slippers, raincoats, sweaters, and purses.

Remember, the patients like pretty things, too. Please do not send used articles.

Do not wrap gifts, as volunteers do this.

We request that all packages be sent by December 17 so that they may be appropriately selected and wrapped before Christmas. Packages may be mailed to:

Mrs. Maggie M. Brantley,
Director
Volunteer Services Department

Bay St. Louis Jaycees

Dear Jaycees:

My family and I would like to express our appreciation to the Bay St. Louis Jaycees for building a ramp for me after I had my leg amputated several months ago.

As it is necessary for me to go to Ochsners three times a week for dialysis, this ramp has made it a lot easier for my family in getting me up and down steps.

Our sincere thanks to you Jaycees for the fine work you are doing in our community.

Sincerely,

The Jesse James of Pearl River's last big haul

Mr. E. J. Stockstill, widely known as Uncle Van, gave me this story of the big train robbery at McNeill a short time before his death at 97 years of age about 20 years ago.

Back about 70 years ago this section here where we live had its own Jesse James.

He was by profession a school teacher, but by avocation a train robber.

Those who knew him remember him as a soft spoken man with a large, well trimmed black mustache, steel blue eyes and the manners of an educated gentleman. He was always neatly dressed and made a good impression on those whom he met.

I worked in a store at Nicholson. This man often came in, riding his horse from over in Louisiana, crossing the river at Poole's Bluff.

Back in those days there was no railroad in Washington Parish, and many people came to Nicholson from over across the river to trade and to catch trains when they went on a trip.

When this man came to Nicholson he would buy his horse feed at the store where I worked, and stable his horse in the lot behind the store.

I got to know him well. He easily made friends with people, though he always seemed modest and retiring. He would sometimes go off on the train and leave his horse with us for several days.

This man was a school teacher over in Washington Parish and was known as a good school teacher. He was so well known as a good teacher that pupils came to his school from miles around.

It was revealed later that school teaching was a way he had of covering up his real job to keep people from finding out about his illegal activities.

We read in the papers along about that time of train robberies, little thinking that we knew the man who was doing it.

He was the terror of train crews and passengers on trains all through this part of the South.

After he was killed, they used to tell this story about him:

It is said that he walked into a train loaded with passengers, pulled his gun and said, "I am going to rob all the men on this train and kiss all the women."

A gallant young Southern gentleman who was on the train jumped up and said to the robber, "You may rob all the men, but I'll die before I see you kiss all these fine ladies."

Then, according to the story, an old maid jumped up and said to this gallant gentleman, "Shut your mouth, young man. That gentleman is a-robbin' this train."

The quiet mannered school teacher, seemed to have plenty of money. He spent his leisure time, according to reports, hunting, fishing, and visiting certain people in the general area of his school.

Later on it was found out that he had searched out and provided himself with several hideouts in case of trouble. He could make a trip and perform a robbery, then cross Pearl River at night and be his old school teacher self again the next morning without causing suspicion.

This man hung out a lot at the railway depot at Nicholson. No one had any idea that he knew the Morse code.

He tried to make friends with the depot agent but his real purpose was to listen in to the telegrams going over the wires.

Finally, as it turned out later, he intercepted a message over the wires stating that there would be a big sum of currency on a certain train bound for New Orleans.

The train the money was on stopped for water at Talowah, which is between Purvis and Lumberton, about where the Pontiac refinery now is.

When the train stopped and while it was taking on water, this man climbed aboard the express car in which the mail was also handled.

He covered the express agent and the mail clerk with his big 45 colts. He ordered the express agent to lie on his face on the floor and then ordered the mail clerk to tie him up with his hands crossed at his back.

After the express man was securely tied up, he himself tied up the mail clerk. All this was done quickly while the train was running.

He quickly got all the money. In the meantime he had locked the door going back into the train.

He then made his way through the other door over the coal tender into the engine room and covered the engineer and fireman with his big gun. He told the engineer to run right on through Poplarville and under no condition to blow the whistle or slow the train down until he was told to.

As they rode south on this train, the robber was watching the outside to keep up with where the train was.

When they passed the McNeill depot the engineer was ordered to slow the train down and to stop it just south of Tate Switch.

The robber told the engineer that he would be on the ground just before the train came to a complete stop, and as soon as the robber hit the ground to open the throttle and get away as fast as he could or he would be watching and shoot him.

About the time the robber hit the ground, the conductor, about four coaches up, got off the train to try to see what was going on. The conductor was very much concerned because the train had not stopped at Poplarville and because the door to the mail and express car was locked.

The robber fired one shot and told the conductor to get back on the train, which he did.

The robber got away with $40,000 in currency. He apparently had his horse hid somewhere nearby and made his way to Pool's Bluff and on over into Louisiana.

There was one unlucky thing for the robber. On the railroad track where he had gotten off the train he had dropped an envelope with his name and address on it sent to him from Texas to a post office in Washington Parish.

The next day after the robbery the section foreman found this envelope while working on the track there and it was turned over to the railway authorities.

The mailing post office stamp was too dim to tell the name of the post office but it did show that it was mailed in Texas. Here was a clue that this particular robber was the one who had done this job.

The railway company posted notices everywhere that they would pay $3000 for the arrest of this man.

The robber school teacher found out about the reward being offered for his arrest. It was too hot for him to stay anywhere in this general area so he made his way to a hide-out in a remote location.

Soon after, in the black darkness of a rainy night, one of his accomplices shot him in the back as he slept on a bed of pine straw.

Thus ended the spectacular career of one of the most notorious train robbers ever to operate in the South.

The morning after the train robbery, the biggest train robbery ever pulled in this area, the news was the biggest sensation ever to happen in this part of the country.

Most of the old people remember the train robbery, but many who are younger have never heard of it.

This ends the story by Uncle Van of the big train robbery.

Uncle Van said that a few months after this train robbery, a man living over across the river came into the store where he worked and bought a big order of merchandise with big bills, saying as he paid the money, "This is some of the train robbery money."

Come Celebrate With Us!

Join the ribbon cutting at Hancock Bank's new Diamondhead Branch on December 18th.

On Tuesday, Hancock Bank will celebrate a very special addition to the Hancock family. Our new Diamondhead Branch.

Conveniently located on West Aloha Drive, our new branch will be open Monday through Thursday from 9 until 2, and on Friday from 9 to 2 and 3:30 to 5:30. Inside the branch you'll find a friendly and competent staff who can offer you all kinds of banking services. Loans, check cashing, night depository and lobby and drive-up service. Soon you'll find HandyBank, Hancock Bank's very own 24-hour teller—the only one of its kind in the area. And best of all, these handy services are available to everyone in Diamondhead and North Hancock and Harrison counties.

All in all, that's quite a lot to celebrate. Won't you join us? We're opening early for the ribbon cutting, at 8:45 a.m., but the festivities will last all day. Just for coming, you'll get a free gift and some refreshments. Plus, you can register all day long for drawings for some special grand prizes.

Ring in the new a little early this year. Stop by Tuesday, December 18th, and help us celebrate the opening of our new Diamondhead Branch. The newest member of Hancock Bank's great big family.

Seniors show artwork in local library SENIOR CITIZEN EVENTS

by Ms. Pete Carr

A reception opening a Hancock County Senior Citizens Art Exhibit at City-County Library was staged Friday, Dec. 2.

This exhibit will remain at the library through December.

Prima Wusnack, library director and her staff are available to supply information requested or reference to a proper source.

The exhibit being presented has been done by senior citizens, some of whom never held a brush until two years ago.

The exhibit is being sponsored by the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District.

Cheri Arceneaux, director of the Cultural Enrichment Program for the Aging acted as hostess.

The Wednesday class at the center is under the supervision of Carl Baldenhofer and the Friday afternoon class is at the present time being conducted by Cheri Arceneaux.

Another important life line in the Community is the special Education program.

The Director of the program is Brenda Scafidi, director of Bay School's special education program attended the exhibit with three of the program classes. The teachers of the three classes are Mrs. Sherry Ponder, Mrs. Candy Murphy and Mrs. Francis Crawley.

Young women pursuing this career should be commended for the patience, warmth and understanding of the various problems to be worked out among their pupils.

RSVP volunteers assist these three teachers to free them for extra attention to pupils where needed.

Brother Canistus Schell, director of Project Do sponsored by St. Stanislaus, attended the exhibit with several young girls in that program. All 70 of the volunteers weekly visit Gulfview Haven Nursing Home, the County Home and the Hancock County Senior Citizens Multi-Purpose Center offering their service where needed.

They also tutor at the St. Rose Elementary Campus and work with the emotionally disturbed.

Senior citizens in the art classes hope that we inspire a curiosity and interest in the arts with our exhibit.

Mayor Larry Bennett of Bay St. Louis also attended, commenting "Bay St. Louis is indeed fortunate to have the community cooperation evident in the event held here today. Activities such as this exhibit for seniors through the Council on Aging at the Hancock Libraries expose all of our citizens to the facilities and services available in our City."

Indeed it makes me very proud when viewing the exhibit to know that we have so much talent among our seniors.

began in March when regulatory and environmental commissions told the commission that using wetlands without restoring land is against the 1899 Rivers and Harbor Act and the 1977 Clean Air and Water Act.

Webre said he received a letter from the corps suggesting the port commission break a dike in a soils deposit area and allow the water to flow with the tide in that area, making the 20-year-old soils deposit site wetlands once again.

Webre said to make the deposit site into wetlands would require topographical changes in the site and added that would be "economically unfeasible."

"Anyone with a sixth grade education knows there is no way that breaking that dike would inundate the area," Webre told the board.

He then said a present proposal by Coastal Zoning Management (CZM), which promises one-stop regulatory permits, may allow the commission to make headway in its arguments with ecologists.

Webre said he offered to trade the site of the Knight construction for wetlands with the Fish and Wildlife Management Commission which is requiring the restoration of wetlands, but added the wildlife body turned down the proposal.

The director said if the industrial park loses the Steve Knight proposal, he believes a "domino" effect will occur and the industrial park will lose more prospective industries.

Commission Member Fred Curet suggested the port commission break the dike as requested in the letter to buy time, and seek a more permanent solution.

Webre said he feels the commission and regulatory bodies are at an impasse, and discussed the possibility of hiring a lawyer who knows the environmental laws.

Board Member David McDonald said the environmental instructions are "so bogged down with gobbledy-goop" that the commission needs a special lawyer on the matter.

McDonald then suggested the commission find out who represented the people building the Tellico Dam in Tennessee which was involved in a national controversy concerning safety of the snail darter, a fish on the endangered species list.

Curet then reiterated the suggestion the commission hire a "grass lawyer" to represent them.

Webre said he will contact the Corps of Engineers and set up a recess meeting before the Dec. 29 deadline.

In other business, the commission discussed repairs to a bulldozer which have cost the county some $13,000 to make the machine operable.

The bulldozer was purchased by the commission from the Hancock County Board of Supervisors for $1, and since that time the right side of the bulldozer has been refitted as well as the track on which the vehicle rides.

Webre said Thursday the bulldozer now needs repairs made to the left side, which was met by opposition from Curet.

Curet suggested the commission

AG opinion.....

"we'll be fairly represented," Garcia stated.

Woodrow Ladner explained, "We don't have the expertise to make district lines, we can only request that a planning agency make the lines so population is equally divided."

"We're getting a runaround," Garcia said.

Board Member Johnny Banks said, "Several years ago a districting plan had to be approved... I represent the entire school district. We just voted to build a south end school, how can you say we haven't done anything for the south end of the county?"

Garcia responded, "We are not represented and want district lines drawn east-west."

Compretta said that once the opinion is back from the attorney general he will have about a month to formulate and introduce legislation for a redistricting bill.

In other business the county school board:

—Agreed to discontinue the release of students from the county school district after the new US-90 high school is built;

—Accepted the resignation of transportation supervisor Mike Necaise, Chancery Court clerk-elect, effective Dec. 31;

—Approved the November docket;

—Approved payment No. 4 to McClendon Building Service for renovation work at Gulfview School for $3,982;

—Approved final payment of $98 to Mykolyk Architects in Pass Christian for fee on gym addition at Gulfview;

—Approved Title I ESEA complaint procedures for Hancock County;

—Approved the release of Kathy Nelson and Sandy Lynn Reynolds from the county school district to the Bay school district;

—Approved advertising for steel grills for return air ducts for Hancock North Central cafeteria;

—Approved agreement with Architect John Mykolyk for a six percent architectural fee on the US-90 high school, in which $3,000 has already been paid;

—Approved payment No. 3 to MIRI, Inc. of Long Beach for re-roofing at Hancock North Central for $21,870;

—Approved the leasing of 2.7 acres of 16 Section land to Gloria McAtee in the Fenton Community;

—Approved an MIRI, Inc. bid to replace the gym and field house roof at Hancock North Central for $23,500 and to submit a price for repairing a canopy at Gulfview. MIRI, Inc. asked the board to sign a five year Dow-Corning warranty for $100,000 of re-roofing work already done at Hancock North Central;

—Approved a request by citizens for the county's 5-12 grade students to name the new county high school, choose school colors and select a school symbol for final approval by the school board;

—Authorized advertisement of bids for new band uniforms for the Hancock North Central band;

—Set a hearing Nov. 22 concerning the padding of a student;

—Requested Mike Necaise settle a dispute regarding transportation of a special education student;

—Tabled action on $1 million of corporal punishment insurance with a $200 a year premium submitted by Hancock Insurance;

—Tabled a request by the area forester to advertise the sale of timber pending a description of the property under consideration;

—Tabled discussion of proposed agreement with Hercules Pinex, Inc. to harvest stumps from school lands pending receipt of bids from other companies.

The board scheduled its next meeting for 9 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 22.

Strikers.....

310, Oliaviri, Waveland, were made after the two allegedly attempted to force trucks from the road using guns and billy clubs, according to Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner.

The charges were dismissed Wednesday in court when the plaintiffs, Thomas L. Everette and Frank Wilson, failed to appear.

Harrington and Everette are reportedly members of the Bay St. Louis Local, Teamsters Union 911 headquartered in Mobile. The men have been on strike since negotiations between the union and Blossman began two weeks ago.

According to the sheriff, Harrington and Antoine allegedly threatened Blossman truck drivers with clubs and guns as they attempted to enter the plant, located on Upper Lakeshore Road in Lakeshore.

Billy Faust, who filed the complaint, alleged that Harrington and Antoine attempted to force a truck off the road with clubs and pistols on Dec. 4 at 10:30 a.m., the sheriff said.

Deputies Fairley Necaise and Mary Beth Iwanzyk arrested the two defendants at 6 p.m. on Dec. 4. The strikers were lodged in the Hancock County Jail and released on a $10,000 bond each the morning of Dec. 5.

Ladner added.

When the matter came before Judge Klein Wednesday, both plaintiffs failed to appear and Klein was forced to dismiss the charges.

"When the plaintiffs failed to appear, the state had no case. There are any number of reasons why they did not show up," Klein said Thursday.

"There was a lot of work involved. The affidavits were drawn up, the arrests were made, and then the plaintiffs fail to show up at the hearing," he continued.

"I was very explicit about what day and time the case was being heard," Klein said.

"The only other avenue through which the charges may be brought is by filing them with the grand jury which meets the second Monday in January," he added.

J.V. McKinstry, manager of the Blossman Concrete plant in Lakeshore, said Thursday the strike is part of normal union negotiations which occur every three years.

"I have nothing to do with the negotiations. That is handled by the vice-president of Blossman Gas," McKinstry said.

The concrete plant which he said has been in Lakeshore for 16 or 17 years is a subsidiary of the gas company, he explained.

"There are about four workers here who are members of the Teamsters Union 991 of Mobile," he said.

He added that the strike is expected to end within the next week.

Jerry Burnthorn, secretary-treasurer and business manager of the Teamsters Local in Mobile, said Thursday he knew of the arrests but considers the alleged violent actions by the union members here as individual acts not associated with the labor organization.

"Our union position is that we conduct proper, peaceful picket lines as required under the law," the Teamsters official said.

"I don't want these illegal actions to reflect upon the Teamsters," he added.

Burnthorn said the union is negotiating for "monetary items," and added "the (Blossman) companies have not offered anything reasonable."

"The companies want to take away previous contract agreements. They are not offering us anything," Burnthorn said.

The union official said he does not see any immediate end to the negotiations, adding the companies appear reluctant to make any settlement.

Garriga benefit slated Sunday

Michelle Garriga, 14-month-old, daughter of Frana and Mitchell Garriga, of De Lisle is suffering from a brain tumor.

To help the parents defray medical costs, the following events have been planned by V.F.W. Post 5931, according to Post Commander Otis Meyers.

A smorgasbord will be held Sunday at the V.F.W. Home in Pass Christian, 401 Scenic Drive from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Turkey, ham and chicken will be served for a donation of $3 for adults and $2 for children.

Games will be held at the same location starting at 3 p.m.

A Turkey and Ham Shooting Match has been scheduled for Sunday, Dec. 16 at the Police Firing Range, North on Fleitas Avenue, starting at 10 a.m. Tickets are $2.

"The public is invited to attend all events and to help in this worthy cause," Meyers said.

Dr. Richard E. Hallgren, who heads NOAA's National Weather Service, presented the award to Boudin comments, "While Hancock County was spared the full fury of Hurricane Frederic, the warning and preparations were outstanding. Ray Barnes told me about Hancock County's active civil defense program and your efforts in maintaining an outstanding preparedness posture."

The weather service official continued, "I'm happy to present the National Weather Service's Public Service Award to the Hancock County Civil Defense for its contributions to the public safety."

The ceremonies were held at the Mobile Civil Defense Emergency Operations Center - the scene of much action during the storm.

Assisting Hallgren, in the presentations were William E. Thornton, president of the U.S. Civil Defense Council; Ray Barnes, head of the Weather Bureau office at Mobile, and Phyllis Pollard, who heads the Weather Service office in Pensacola, Fla.

A total of 44 Gulf Coast people and organizations were honored for their services during Frederic.

Accompanying Boudin was Hancock County Civil Defense Secretary Dorothy Bielstein.

Boudin said he wishes to emphasize that the award was to everyone in Hancock County for their efforts.

LANDOWNERS

Do you need more income from your timberland? Hercules Incorporated has developed a process for converting the stump of a living pine tree into lightwood. With this new process, Hercules pays landowners for the right to treat the stumps of their pine timber while the trees are still growing and remove the stumps after the trees are harvested. With the stumps removed, the land is left in excellent condition for reforestation or conversion into other uses, such as pasture or row cropping.

To participate in the program, landowners need only to have merchantable pine timber which they plan to harvest within the next few years. To learn more about the program, call Mike Petter, 601-896-9472, Gulfport, Mississippi, or write or call Hercules Incorporated, Hattiesburg, Mississippi, 39401, phone number 601-545-3450.

Christmas Greetings

Mississippi should have 15 more in US Naval Academy

(Editors Note: This is the second of a series on the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md. Mississippi should have at least 35 enrolled as midshipmen, but has only 20 at the Academy. We hope this series will generate a renewed interest in the Academy among parents and students here.)

The U.S. Naval Academy was established at Annapolis, Md., in 1845 on the site of Fort Severn, originally built in 1808 as a defense against an "invading enemy penetrating the waters of the Chesapeake."

After the permanent establishment of the Navy in 1845, several suggestions for an organized naval school had been made, but the only educational facilities available for midshipmen up to the War of 1812 had been instruction by chaplains who had no special qualifications for such work, except a "liberal education."

Previously, midshipmen had been educated through actual experience at sea and by such "book learning" as the individual chose to acquire.

States Navy at Mobile Bay, commanded the USS Merrimac, renamed the CSS Virginia, when it destroyed the Union frigate Congress on which his brother was purser. At the start of the Civil War, the academy was moved from Annapolis to an estate in Newport, R.I., and midshipmen were housed aboard the USS Constitution at anchor in Newport harbor.

Meanwhile, the buildings at Annapolis and hurriedly constructed barracks on the banks of the Severn were used to treat the wounded from the battlefields of Virginia.

Re-established at Annapolis in 1865 under Admiral David Dixon Porter, the academy experienced a surge of development.

The curriculum was updated, young officers - including some of the academy's own graduates - were brought in as instructors, new buildings were constructed, the library volumes were returned from safe keeping and, for the first time, social and athletic activities became an important part of life at Annapolis.

Events that have become the old basic core curriculum into majors ranging from aerospace engineering to literature to oceanography.

Where little more than a decade ago, all midshipmen took the same 40 courses, today's midshipmen have the opportunity to select from more than 500 courses, including political science, languages and computer science.

Also important are the professional changes at Annapolis. Along with the emphasis on broadening the academic curriculum, more intense officer training is provided at the academy.

Upper classmen have more responsibility for plebe training and leadership of the entire 4400-member Brigade of Midshipmen.

New buildings - modern, yet in harmony with the classic structures from the past - now line the Severn River.

The twin towers of the science and mathematics buildings, Michelson and Chauvenet Halls, have been in use for more than nine years. The 500,000 volume Nimitz Library, dedicated in the fall provide midshipmen with one of the most balanced educations available anywhere.

And with the class of 1980, this education is offered to women as well as men at Annapolis. Women midshipmen, under a law passed by Congress in 1975, were admitted to the Naval Academy for the first time with the Class of 1980 which reported in July, 1976.

Instead of the seven founding professors, the academy faculty now numbers more than 550, half naval officers, rotating every few years to bring fresh thinking from the fleet, and half civilians, insuring continuity and input from the academic community.

Where some 50 young men had crowded into the old barracks of 10-acre Fort Severn in 1845 to open the new national Naval School, more than 4,400 midshipmen now walk the 329 acres that are the Naval Academy today.

PARADE FORMATION—The steeple of the historic Chapel of the United States Naval Academy rises above trees in background of parade field. The academy's student body currently includes only 20 young men from Mississippi of a possible quota of 35. (Academy photo)

With the advent of the steam engine and an appropriation in 1839 for building steam warships, it became necessary to train midshipmen ashore in the knowledge of ship propulsion.

George Bancroft, secretary of the navy in 1845, forged ahead with his ideas for a single permanent national naval school.

Secretary of War William L. Marcy, with the approval of President Polk, transferred Fort Severn to the Navy for use as a naval school in August, 1845.

Commander Franklin Buchanan, well known in the Navy for his discipline and determination, as well as for his ability to organize, was selected by Secretary Bancroft to be the superintendent of the Naval School.

Seven professors were recruited for the faculty, four from officers in the Navy and three civilian professors.

Fifty midshipmen were selected, and the new Naval School on the Severn River was underway on October 10, 1845.

In 1851 the school was formally designated the United States Naval Academy and the necessity for a regular course of continuous instruction was recognized.

Under this reorganization, a four-year course of study replaced the curriculum that had called for one year of study, three years at sea and a final year at Annapolis.

Summer training cruises during the four continuous years, as is the practice today, were put into effect in 1851.

A decade later the Civil War split the academy, with classmates separating to later face one another in battle.

Former Superintendent, Commander Buchanan, later to command the Confederate traditions at the Naval Academy were initiated in the years after the Civil War through the turn of the century.

June Week, now Commissioning Week, was introduced during Porter's tenure (1865-1869). Navy met Army in 1890 to win the first game of the annual football classic, and "Anchors Aweigh" was sung for the first time in 1906 - and immediately adopted as the Navy fight song.

Today these traditions and many others remain at the Naval Academy. New plebes still come through the academy gates in July and don't leave the Yard again until the middle of August.

White-capped midshipmen in dress blue and brass buttons still pass in review on Worden Field and drum rolls still thunder in Tecumseh Court during meal formations. But along with the continuing traditions at the Naval Academy, exciting changes, both academic and physical, reflect the trends and needs of the times.

Midshipmen no longer march to classes, just as they no longer are locked into the same inflexible academic pattern.

New emphasis on broadening their academic opportunities has expanded of 1973, also contains complete audio visual and closed circuit television facilities.

Rickover Hall, the academy's newly completed engineering studies complex, is one of the most extensive laboratory facilities in the nation.

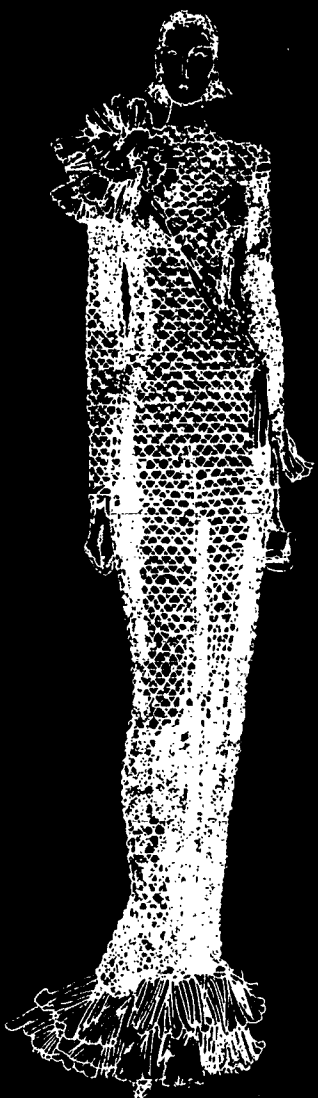

On the waterfront rises the Robert Crown Sailing Center, dedicated in April, 1974.

Built from privately donated funds, the center houses the Intercollegiate Sailing Hall of Fame and provides facilities for the academy's program of varsity and intramural sail training.

Venerable Dahlgren Hall, for years an armory and drill hall, has been converted with private donations into a Midshipman Activity Center, with a hockey-size skating rink, snack bar and other recreational facilities.

The improved facilities, the increased versatility of the academic program and extracurricular activities, along with a sophisticated professional training program to meet the more complex needs of today's nuclear Navy,

Green, Johnson married in Georgia ceremonies

Patricia Ann Green, daughter of Mrs. Lacy A. Green and the late Mr. Green of Bay St. Louis, and Cecil James Johnson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Sr. of Evans, Ga., were married at a Nuptial Mass Saturday, December 1, in Holy Family Church, Marietta, Ga. Father Jim Ackins performed the double ring ceremony. Brass candelabra encircled by pink and white poinsettias and greenery decorated the church.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Barbara Hammond, organist, and Gene Moore, vocalist, of Marietta.

Given in marriage by her brother Thomas Green, the bride wore a gown of ivory silk organza over taffeta. The fitted bodice, enhanced by lace motifs, featured a high neckline and long fitted sleeves. A sheer cameo effect, edged with Brussels lace, accented the front of the bodice and sleeves. The A-line Venice lace skirt flowed into a full circular chapel length train, a border of Venice lace flowers encircled the hem and train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion, edged with Brussels lace, was held by a cap of matching lace encrusted with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of pale pink silk roses, white phalaenopsis orchids, white freesias and lily of the valley accented by deep pink miniature carnations. Mrs. Carole Routman, Stone Mountain, Ga., attended the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Gail Nelson, Jackson, Miss., sister of the groom, and Mrs. Judy Rochotte, Dallas, Tex. Lori Nelson, niece of the groom, served as flower girl. They wore formal burgundy empire style dresses fashioned with crystal pleated skirts and soft chiffon capes draped over the bodices. They carried bouquets of burgundy silk fuji mums, white dahlias and deep pink phlox interspersed with baby's breath and greenery and wore matching flower headpieces. The flower girl carried a white basket of matching blossoms.

Mr. Johnson attended his son as best man. Groomsmen were Michael McMillian, Marietta, Ga., and Ronnie Taylor, Augusta, Ga., Heath Reed, Woodstock, Ga., and Roger Ligeon, Augusta, cousin of the groom, served as ushers.

The mother of the bride received guests wearing a powder blue crepe dress with navy accessories and the mother of the groom wore a lime green shantung suit and black accessories.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Parish Center.

For their wedding trip to Florida the bride chose a navy blue suit with matching accessories.

Pass Garden Club tours DuPont

The Pass Christian Garden Club met at the Pass Christian Golf Club December 6. The usual club business was almost entirely set aside to enable members to partake of a Christmas table heavily laden with products of the hostesses' kitchens.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Howard Haines and Mrs. James Winchester, with Mrs. Thomas Shea, Mrs. Howard Cox, Mrs. W.J. Leapy, Mrs. James Jaubert, and Mrs. W.B. Carlin as assistant hostesses.

President Rosamond Wallace briefly called the meeting to order to welcome members and guests, and to announce the addition of eight new members: Mrs. Daniel Jacob, Mrs. Philip Saccoccia, Mrs. Margaret Sedgewick, Mrs. Daniel Sentilles, and Mrs. James Thompson.

The president then informed the membership that a long time member, Mrs. Margaret Wilbur, presently living in Bermuda, was very ill, and after mentioning some of the many things Mrs. Wilbur had done for the club, suggested that she be voted a life membership. The suggestion met with immediate unanimous approval.

The President closed the meeting by extending an invitation from the DuPont Company to participate in guided walking tours of their facility which were conducted from noon to 5 p.m. Saturday.

50th ANNIVERSARY—Clarence and Nora Provost Garcia recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at their home, on Lower Bay Road with children, grandchildren, friends and other relatives. YOU AND YOUR PET

Have you ever heard of canine blastomycosis? Is it severe or mild? Can it be transmitted to humans? These are three questions that are answered in an article George A. Sarosi, M.D., department of medicine, Veterans Administration Medical Center, Minneapolis, Minnesota and colleagues have written in the November 1979 issue of "The Annals of Internal Medicine."

"Blastomycosis is still an enigma," Dr. Sarosi said, and "in recent years, more detailed understanding of the ecology of blastomycosis dermatitis has been elusive." There have been four epidemics of blastomycosis to date and the fungus was not recovered from the patients' environment. Both humans and dogs are susceptible to this Blastomycosis dermatitis fungus.

Canine blastomycosis is familiar to the veterinarian and its symptoms include severe weight loss, anorexia, and the appearance of ocular or cutaneous lesions. According to the article, cases of the disease among dogs should alert physicians to the possibility of an outbreak among people.

Dr. Sarosi describes the various treatments that he and other physicians gave to a sample group of six patients. The patients' most notable symptoms were coughing, weight loss, and anorexia, and in each case either the patient's or a neighbor's dog had died of blastomycosis (revealed by autopsy).

Canine blastomycosis is not a new disease. Its history goes back as far as 1898 when T.C. Gilchrist, who had described the disease in humans, along with a colleague reported that dogs could be inoculated with the fungus and developed an illness closely resembling human blastomycosis immediately after inoculation.

The article goes on to say that amphotericin B therapy is effective treatment in dogs as well as humans.

Finally, Dr. Sarosi says, he doesn't believe that dogs infected the humans but that the fungus was in the same environment that both dogs and humans were exposed to. The fungus habitat in nature has not been discovered and recent work suggested that the fungus is found in bird droppings. Further studies will eventually pinpoint it exactly.

Will you ever finish moving in?

You might not think so when the living room's still jammed with packing crates. But you will—and I can help. As your WELCOME WAGON Representative I can save you time and money. And brighten up your family with my basket of gifts.

St. Monica Guild eyes Episcopal Prayer Book

By JO PILET
Guild Publicist
The History of the Episcopal Prayer Book was traced by Rev. H. McDonald Morse Jr.,

rector of Trinity Church in Pass Christian, at the request of the St. Monica Guild when members of that organization met recently in the home of Mrs. Herman E. deVries, 740 West Beach.

In recognition of some controversy on the use of the "new" 1979 prayer book, the rector said objections stemmed more from the bulkiness of the book than to the content.

In Trinity Church the 1928 prayer book will continue to be used in all services with the exception of a once-a-month 10 a.m. service when the 1979 prayer book will be used in the rituals, Morse said.

Closing out her term as president of the St. Monica Guild, Mrs. Theo T. Moore turned over the gavel to incoming president, Mrs. John Frith.

Business for the month presented through a series of motions, voted "yea" unanimously by the Guild members present, included authorization and finance for the purchase of items needed by an orphan child being sponsored by the group. Mrs. Ducrose Stouse was appointed for this service.

Authorization was given Mrs. Fred Kohn to contract work necessary to install security lights on the church property.

Authorization was given Mrs. Randolph Buck to purchase furnishings needed in the Church Library.

Mrs. Stanford Morse Sr. announced the guild-sponsored traditional St. Valentine's silver tea will be given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Billups, 625 East Beach in Pass Christian.

Mrs. Morse named to the tea arrangements committee Mrs. Randolph Buck as overall chairman; Mrs. Ducrose Stouse, tea service chairman; Mrs. A. M. Dantzer, chairman of decorations; Mrs. Nunez (Joe) Pilet, for public relations and news releases.

A standing ovation expressed membership appreciation for services given by retiring officers including in addition to Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Frith, vice president; deVries, treasurer; and Mrs. Richard Stewart, secretary. Mrs. Pilet who served as corresponding secretary will continue in office during the new administration.

During the social hour that followed the meeting Mrs. Rosemond Wallace served sherry and Mrs. John McCloskey poured tea.

Attractive holiday decor, creations of the hostess, were placed at vantage points throughout the rooms.

Assisting as co-hostesses were Miss Jane Northrup and Mrs. Frank Anderson.

There's an Answer!

Breathing Natural Q - After giving birth to my first child I developed a blood clot in my lung and couldn't breathe. Ever since that time, whenever I'm nervous or upset I get the sensation that I can't breathe.

This obsession is maddening to me. Breathing is supposed to be so natural, yet I am always aware of how I breathe. I get scared and try to force and control it. I've been going to a psychologist for 2 years with little results. I desperately need to erase this fear from my mind.

A - We have a booklet called You Can Relax which is on its way to you. We will be glad to send a free copy to any reader of this column if you will write to us at Box 500, Pawling, N.Y. 12564. Such a problem as you describe may result from a long-developing tension. The best way to handle it is to believe God will help you with it. Then just go ahead and breathe. I'm sure your breathing mechanism will work O.K. Try getting your mental attitudes under control.

On HBO, it's Bah Humbug to Commercials.

On HBO, holiday specials are really special. And the merriment is never interrupted. Top impressionist Rich Little is a one-man cast of the Dickens classic, "A Christmas Carol." Ahead: more holiday shows and big movies like "The Wiz." HBO's got a gift for entertainment... but you won't get a single commercial.

BY DR. L.S. WALKER

"AND YE SHALL KNOW THE TRUTH, and the truth shall make you free," John 8:32.

These are the pungent and exciting words of Jesus Christ our Lord and Saviour, the greatest teacher ever to walk this earth.

Religious error has frustrated the lives of all men; and complicated the labors of God's people in every generation.

Our's is no exception. The Apostle Paul declared: "Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils," I Tim. 3:8.

There are some leaders in religious circles who think it makes no difference what a man believes, so long as he is sincere, but it does. It could be the difference in a man being saved of remaining unsaved. Divine truth will free one from religious error.

Here again, Paul warned in his letter to the Ephesians: "That we henceforth be no more children tossed to and fro, and carried about with every kind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive;..." (Eph. 4:14).

More people cater to religious error than to Bible truth. Real Bible-believers have been in the minority in every generation.

This running after every religious fanatic who takes off after some doctrine of the devil reminds me of the old Mississippi farmer who, when asked what was the matter with his hogs, they were so poor, replied:

"When I had laryngitis and lost my voice about a year ago I could not call them to their feed, so I got a big stick and hammered on the side of the crib. They soon learned that was their feeding call. They were doing well 'till about three weeks ago when some woodpeckers came in here and went to pounding on the old dead trees."

"My hogs ran in the direction of the knocking thinking it was my call for feed. When they came running and squealing, the frightened woodpeckers would fly to another tree and the hogs would run to that part of the woods. Those woodpeckers have just about run my hogs to death."

It would be a blessing indeed if many people would cease running after these religious woodpeckers and kneads in the pulpits. After all, all a woodpecker does with his loud knocking, is get himself in a hole, and a lot of honest, well-intentioned people find themselves in the same hole with them.

Much so-called "new thought" is simply old nonsense! If one observes closely he should be able to distinguish between a man and a woodpecker; or a crib of corn and a dead tree.

If one will prayerfully observe what God has to say in His Word, he should be able to distinguish between Divine truth and religious error.

Scianna is Italian Society president

The Italian Society of the Immaculate Conception held its 63rd annual celebration Saturday night, December 8, at the Knights of Columbus Home in Bay St. Louis.

Officers for the coming year, Charles Scianna, president; Robert Compretta, vice president; Rodney Sandoz, secretary; Jack Sotak, treasurer, and Tony Morreale, Walter Ross and Tony Compretta, trustees, were introduced.

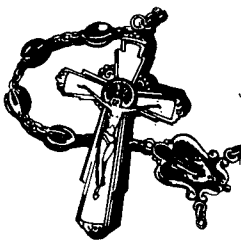

Charter members of the organization present were August Schiro, Gasper Maurigi, Sr., John Benigno, Marshall Chiniche, Andrew Scafide, Joseph DiBenedetto, Anthony Lolacano and Luke Marengo.

Guest speakers were Father Louis Lohan, Dr. A. K. Martinolich and Knights of Columbus State Deputy Rodney Sandoz. Guests were Father Lohan and Father Patrick Mockler of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church; Mr. Sandoz, Tony Scavo, Grand Knight of Pere Le Duc Council Knights of Columbus; Dr. and Mrs. Martinolich, Sam Perniciaro, Hancock County District 4 supervisor and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Morreale who presented an Italian flag to the Society in the name of the Vincent, Tony and Pete Morreale families. Vincent Morreale, who recently passed away, had been a lifelong member and served as president of the Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chiniche won the door prize. Dinner for the occasion was prepared and served by Mr. and Mrs. Tony Morreale.

Plans for the next meeting were discussed and Mrs. Tony Compretta and Mrs. Sam Perniciaro will serve as banquet committee chairmen.

OLG Altar Guild plans cake sale

Our Lady of the Gulf Altar Guild held its monthly meeting and annual Christmas party Thursday afternoon in parish hall with Father Louis Lohan offering the opening prayer and Mrs. Grace Hunter, president, conducting the business session.

Plans were made for a cake sale before and after all Masses at Our Lady of the Gulf Church December 15 and 16.

Mrs. Alden Mauffray and Mrs. Elsie Chapin hosted the social hour; Christmas arrangements decorated the tables.

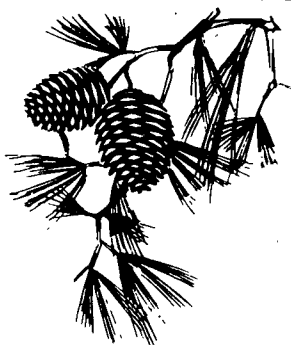

The next meeting will be at 3:15 p.m. January 31 in parish hall.

Dear Santa,
This is what I want for Christmas.
Some skates
A skate board scooter
A Mr. Mouth
Ken and Barbie set with dolls.
A rattle for my brother with a high chair.

Love,
Gina Parrillo and my Brother Keith Smith

Dear Santa,

349 Ulman Ave,
Bay St. Louis, Ms.

Dear Santa,

I am 3 yrs. old and trying very hard to be a good boy.
My mama is writing this letter for me. Please bring me a Pool Table, Truck with a spare tire, and please bring my cousin Lori a basketball and goal.

"I love you." Will leave cookies and milk for you.
Have a safe Christmas.

Love
Jeremy Paul Clark

Dear Santa

I want a cris crash, racing wheels and jack. And a spider man doll with fliaaway Atchthin, and a new pair of shoews.

Chris Shubert

Dear Santa,
Please bring Bay Jr. High a young pretty, enthusiastic, sweet, and Tiger loving Cheerleader sponsor.
Let her love Cheerleading so much that she will find time for all the unexpected things she will have to do. Make her young and healthy, as this job calls for lots of energy.

Thank you, Santa, I know you'll do your best. You see I am so tired and there's so much left to be done.
Your big girl,
Cathy Carter.

December birthstone makes appropriate Christmas gift

By JO PILET

Anyone on your gift list born in December? Here's a tip: Turquoise, that musical sounding name, was first used in the 13th century. The word is probably derived from a French word meaning "Turkish stone." (The stone is said to have reached Europe via Turkey).

Selected by jewelers as the stone for December, it is one of the most important non-transparent gems.

Turquoise were used in the oldest piece of wrought jewelry known to man.

In 1900 during an archaeological dig for bracelets of turquoise cast in gold were found on the arm of Queen Zer.

At that time, it is said, they had remained on her arm for 7,500 years, placing their origin somewhere around 5,600 B.C.

Tourquoise were used by Indians, who thought they held the sea and blue sky spirits. They used the stones in personal adornment and believed the stone had power to protect the wearer from injury.

This belief still exists among the Navahos. There is a legend that a piece of turquoise thrown into a river accompanied by a prayer will bring needed rains.

A pendant formed from 81 pieces of turquoise and mounted on a wood ring about three and a quarter inches in diameter was found in Death Canyon, Arizona and is said to be the oldest known piece of turquoise jewelry fashioned by American Indians to this date.

CHRISTMAS PARTY—The Woman of Christ Episcopal Church treated 14 World War I and II veterans to cakes, pies and punch recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dix Ashman in Waveland. Ladies hosting the party are from top left, Edie Wilhelm, Anne Ashman, Evelyn Shilling and Fran Lucas. Ashman home opened to war veterans

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Woman of Christ Episcopal Church hosted a Christmas party for 14 World War I and II patients from the Gulfport Veterans Administration Hospital Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dix Ashman, Lafayette Drive in Waveland.

Ladies from the Episcopal Church have had annual Christmas parties for hospitalized veterans from Gulfport for about the last 15 years, Anne Ashman says.

Guests were treated to cakes, pies and punch prepared by the ladies, sang Christmas carols and relaxed. The Ashman home was decorated for the Christmas season in lights and ornaments with a mechanized Santa Claus, reindeer and sleigh display floating in the indoor swimming pool.

Ladies assisting with the Christmas party, not members of the Episcopal Church, were Edie Wilhelm and Evelyn Shilling.

Former residents write Heritage Editor Pilet

Mrs. Maria Christina Villalobos who lived for many years on Genin Street and was employed at St. Stanislaus has returned from Guatemala and is now residing with her daughter, Mrs. Monroe Cuevas of 2501 Harvard Road in Ocean Springs.

Mrs. Villalobos is scheduled for eye surgery in the near future. We wish her full speedy recovery.

Mrs. Eugene B. Robbins, who with her husband spent several winters in Pass Christian, is remembered especially for her work with Miramar Lodge Nursing Home. She organized the Wheel Chair Parade, frequently entertained patients with movies and lectures and won State-wide recognition.

Her address is now P.O. Box 125 Piermont, New Hampshire and she writes: "I am spending the winter here alone. Gene died August 31. Among the things I cherish are my happy memories. I shall miss Mississippi where we had four precious winters." Thought for today: Even though our posterity has never done anything for us, it would make us feel warm, welcome and good inside to do something for posterity anyway. How about a set of values? A small sample of ethics? Surely there must be something to give them at this holiday season.

AWARDED REAL ESTATE LICENSE—Mrs. Norma Ritch of Pyramid Real Estate in Bay St. Louis has been awarded her Mississippi real estate salesman's license. Martinolich hosts area Carmelites

The Secular Order of Carmelites Disclaud met Sunday afternoon, December 9, in the home of Mrs. Charline Martinolich.

Mrs. Lillian Carver, president, conducted the business session and, Rev. Andrew Masters, SVD, spiritual director, gave a conference on the "Lay Apostolate."

The meeting closed with lighting of the Advent wreath and vespers.

During the social hour, with members from Biloxi, Gulfport, Bay St. Louis and Waveland, attending, Mrs. Carver was honored on the occasion of her birthday. The next meeting will be Sunday, January 13, in the Martinolich home.
